INTRODUCTION

Blacks have always been a topic of discussion for those seemingly disinterested, as well as those interested. Before the 1954 Supreme Court decision to end segregation, it was of interest as to how to separate and isolate Blacks. Still, many persons maintain this same separatist attitude, both Blacks and whites, for whatever their personal reasons.

Setting aside all the myths and misconceptions, Blacks have been the subject matter of many books, periodicals and other forms of communication. It is therefore, the intention of this bibliography to more fully acquaint persons with the literature (books, newspapers, periodicals reference sources) maintained in Farrell Library at Kansas State University.

This bibliography is not an exhaustive list of holdings at Farrell Library, but as up to date as possible. A supplement will added to keep the bibliography current.

This bibliography was made possible through funds granted by the Student Governing Association at Kansas State University.
